Piano

Lured to the city by a job at the World's Fair and by a passionate interest in the music of Crescent City pianists like James Booker, Professor Longhair and Dr. John, Tom moved to New Orleans in 1984.

Tom has led many groups including the New Orleans Nightcrawlers, an incredible Brass Band which he co-founded. He has performed with many jazz groups including the Dukes of Dixieland with whom he recorded three albums, toured Germany and South America, and performed at Carnegie Hall.

During a four month engagement on the "American Queen" riverboat, Tom composed and recorded "All the Keys," a twenty-four piece suite for piano available on CD.

Tom can truly be called a "Nawlins" piano master, which you will understand when you hear him perform.
